

Christine Cooper CEO aequum LLC

Christine Cooper is the CEO of aequum LLC and the Co-Managing Member of Koehler Fitzgerald LLC, a law firm with a national practice. Christine leads the firm's healthcare practice and is dedicated to assisting and defending plans and patients from unreasonable medical bills. Christine works with third-party administrators, plan sponsors of employee medical benefit plans, stop-loss carriers, and brokers to provide advocacy and defense of plan members who are faced with out-of-network and balance billing claims by medical care providers at all stages of collection activity, from provider billing to jury trial and appeal. Christine also has a passion for technology and has found ways to incorporate that passion into her work. She has been an integral part of improving and maintaining the software and databases that allow Aequum to deliver high-quality advocacy services to its partners and their members, as well as determine trends in the industry.
